

Ski and Snowboarding Schools and other Exciting New Sports in the SalzburgerLand

The following list features popular winter sports (snowboarding, bigfoot, race training, ski safaris, ski guiding, Telemark, firm gliding, skibob, snowbike, zorbing, bungy running, snow-kiting, squal, airboard, tandem snowboarding, snowshoeing; plus guided ski tours, ice climbing, winter hang- and paragliding) currently offered at the various ski schools.

Other providers of these winter sports are all included in this info sheet. (typed in cursive)

Description of some of the trendiest winter sports

Ski Safaris

An adventure you can enjoy on your regular Alpine skis. The criterion for this variant: a love of variety. Perfect for anyone who prefers not to ski the same slope twice in one day. Armed with a single ski pass, you'll get to enjoy a variety of hills and valleys, before probably hopping on a ski shuttle to make your way back to your home base.

Telemark

Touring skis with free-heel bindings will probably do the trick, but real Telemark skis are somewhat narrower. And above all: laced leather boots and climbing skins are essential for touring. Those deep knee-bends can easily be learned, even by the average skier. If you love nature, this is the sport for you.

Skibob

Riding this steerable, single-runner sled enjoys ever greater popularity. The same principle that applies to downhill skiing, also applies here: good training increases enjoyment down the road.

Snowbike

A further development of the skibob, particularly well-suited for non-skiers who want to experience the fun of sliding downhill on snow.

Zorbing

Roll down a field of snow at 50 km/h in a large, round, soft ball. You hang on the inner wall of the Zorb, protected by a 700 mm-thick air cushion.

Bungy-Running

Complete a variety of tasks with a 12-15 meter-long rubber cord attached to your body.

Snowsailing

On many a slope, these "bats" can be viewed even in broad daylight! With thin sails attached to knees and arms, you use your own headwind to brake and control your speed. This equipment is especially popular in children's ski courses.

Squal

Very similar to swingbo: a snowboard-like ski with movable bindings, whose two parts are connected with a rolling joint.

Airboard

Slide at lightning-fast speeds down the slopes on this special board.

Tandem snowboarding

- a snowboard for two people standing one behind the other on a board equipped with two sets of bindings.

Snowshoeing

Snowshoe hiking is a new form of fun for tourists. Experience the untamed romance of trudging through the snow in your grandfather's footsteps, sporting snowshoes that look like somewhat overgrown tennis rackets.

Many a hill farmer has woven his own out of hazelnut or willow wood, or bound them with leather straps. Today you can take advantage of more modern versions, made of aluminum or other lightweight materials.

Guided Ski Tours – Ski Safaris

Away from the slopes amid pristine countryside – where those with a sense for romance and a love for nature, combined with the excitement of conquering mountain summits, look to make their winter dreams come true. Certified mountain guides or ski instructors will accompany you to your touring destination, bringing you safely back down to the valley at the end of the day. Though the whole concept of using lifts isn't totally rejected, the places where you'll be headed don't have any! So, a little conditioning is probably a good idea.

Hang- & Paragliding

"Up, up, and away!" Take off on skis! Those of you who have never soared upward on a thermal beneath a hang glider or parasail, will discover that take-off and landing become so much easier on skis. Specialized schools will teach you all the skills you need in a course that includes theory, practice and experience.

Ice climbing/Waterfall Climbing

Daredevil adventure-seekers will definitely get their money's worth here. Where only a few weeks before the water had plunged down into the depths, the cold of winter has created bizarre ice formations. Ice climbing is a way of discovering your own limits. Practice, experience, control of your body and a shot of daring will lead to your goal – while expert supervision from an experienced mountain guide makes this adventure exceptionally safe.

Winter Canyoning:

Hiking with crampons along a stream bed that was impassable during the summer, through untamed landscapes marked by mountain streams frozen in ice. Participants' nerves will be tested as they ascend via narrow, steep steps and then rappel back down.

Snowtubing:

Perched on custom-designed rubber tubes, you'll race headlong down specially groomed slopes. Thrilling fun in the snow!

Snow-Kiting:

Ride your snowboard or short skis down the slopes while you're attached to a kite. Using a special technique, you'll even be able to take off from time to time and glide through the air.
